Furthermore, these worksheets often contain a variety of question types—from simple recall to inferential and analytical questions—that build different cognitive skills. They also provide a structure for group discussions or written assignments, making them versatile tools for different learning environments.

Enhancing Comprehension Through Structured Questions

Well-designed questions help break down complex storylines or cultural nuances. For example, a worksheet might ask, "What motivates Carlitos to embark on his journey to the United States?" or "Describe the relationship between Carlitos and his grandmother." Such questions prompt learners to identify key plot points and character motivations, sharpening their understanding. Moreover, questions about setting and context—like "How does the film portray the challenges faced by immigrants?"—encourage students to think beyond the plot and consider real-world issues. This type of analysis enriches their perspective and fosters empathy for people experiencing similar struggles.

These questions focus on straightforward details from the film to assess basic understanding. - Where does Carlitos live at the start of the movie? - Who takes care of Carlitos while his mother is in the United States? -

How does Carlitos plan to reunite with his mother? Factual questions are essential for ensuring learners grasp the storyline before moving on to deeper analysis.

2. Vocabulary and Language Questions

Since the movie is bilingual and rich in cultural expressions, vocabulary questions help learners connect language to context. - Define the term “La Migra” as used in the film. - What is the significance of the phrase “Under the Same Moon” in relation to the story? These are more open-ended and require thoughtful responses. - Why do you think the director chose to show both Mexico and the United States in the film? - How does the relationship between Carlitos and his mother evolve throughout the story? Analytical questions encourage learners to think critically and develop their interpretation skills.

4. Personal Reflection Questions
